Lydia: [yawns] I'm sorry, I didn't sleep very well last night.

Wickham: I know, I woke up to little flailing fists in my face more than once.

Lydia: I'm sorry, you should have woke me up.

Wickham: Mmm, why would I do that when I can just hold you 'till you calm down?

Lydia: I just, um... had a lot of dreams about Lizzie and birds, and I think I might have tried to strangle her with a ribbon at some point...

Wickham: Like a guilty subconscious to me. But you've got nothing to worry about. Lizzie and I were never serious, and you and I haven't even ha- Anyways. If the roles were reversed, she would absolutely look out for her own interests. It's just, what she does.

Lydia: Well, I don't know if that's really fair.

Wickham: Uh, has she called you since she left?

Lydia: No, but I haven't called her either-

Wickham: It's still, she's your older sister, she should be looking out for you.

Lydia: Um, it's okay, I don't really want to talk about Lizzie anyway.

Wickham: You know, now is one of those times when I would really like to kiss you.

Lydia: Kiss me. Why are you telling me that?

Wickham: Is it okay?

Lydia: Yes.

[kissing happens]

Wickham: Wow, now I really hope Lizzie isn't watching. Actually, you know what, let her. Hey Lizzie, it's, uh, George. I don't know if you remember me or not. But maybe if you're watching this, I hope you are, or in the future, I just wanted to say thank you, for listening to Darcy and kicking me to the curb, because if you hadn't I wouldn't have had the chance to reconnect with your little sister here. And I am so happy that I did.

Anyways, when you watch this video, I hope that you understand what she means to me and just how happy we are together. I couldn't have done it without you. Thank's Peach.

Lydia: Kay, but really enough about Lizzie, okay?

Wickham: Whatever you want.

Lydia: Carters?

Wickham: No! I am not doing karaoke!

Lydia: Yes you are! Yes you are, yes you are, yes you are.

Wickham: So not happening! No.

Lydia: Mmm hmm!

Wickham: Alright, anything for you.

Lydia: I knew it, you're such a pushover.

Wickham: Only for you.

[kissing happens]
