"The Warehouse" - Episode 7 - The Life Of A DFTBA Order

The Warehouse
https://youtube.com/watch?v=F_ybbcKIqj8
https://nerdfighteria.info/v/F_ybbcKIqj8

[The Life of a DFTBA Order Intro]

So you've placed an order on DFTBA.com, but have you ever wondered, "Hey, where does my order really come from?"

Well, the T-shirts start off at a fancy printing company. And once they arrive at the warehouse, our team of experts goes to stock them in their appropriate locations.

What's that you say computer? A new order's just come in? Well we better print out that label to see what was ordered. Using our nifty short code here we can see here that Jonny has ordered one of our "Keep Calm and DFTBA" T-shirts.

Now once we know what was ordered, we must find the right sized packaging. Yep, that's the one. Now as soon as we've labeled the package, our team springs into action to retrieve the shirt from the shelf. And once we've double-checked the size, we can pack up the shirt and it's ready to go.

What's that computer? Another order's just come in? Well we better print out that label. Oh, it looks like little Suzie has ordered one of our "DFTBA" wristbands. Along with the new Hank Green bundle, where you can both of these CD's for only $15. Smart shopping Suzie.

Now once we've found the right sized packaging. Yep, that one. Our team can once again jump into action to fulfill the order. First up, they'll grab the wristband from our small items and accessories table. And then it's off to the CD room, where we'll use more of those fancy short codes to make sure we're getting you the right CD's.

And once Suzie's order is ready to go, It can join Jonny's in a shipping bag where it'll wait for the mailman to bring it to your door.

And now you know where your DFTBA order comes from. Don't forget to be awesome!