(The Warehouse Intro)

Matthew: Hey there, I am Matthew Gaydos and welcome to The Warehouse, the weekly show where we share the DFTBA warehouse with you.

First of all, I'm pretty sure most of you already know this but today is the very last day for our Black Friday/Cyber Monday weekend sale thing. This sale that has been going on since Friday ends tonight. So if you want to take advantage of three dollar shipping on any order, no matter the size or where it's going, or anything, you should do that today. Soon, like now.

And speaking of shipping, as part of this whole Black Friday deal, the HPA just released a brand new shirt featuring everyone's favorite OTP. And that is this "Remus & Sirius 5ever" shirt. And this is not a pre-order, we actually have them in the warehouse right now, so if you order it, it's going to be shipping out right away. So don't be afraid to pick up one of these, with, like, seven "circle food" shirts, and a "#dailybabymargot" shirt or two. And it never hurts to pick up a couple of CD's as well because no matter how big of a bag we have to put your order in, or however many forklifts it takes for us to lift you order, it's still only going to cost you three dollars to ship it.

Alright, now it's time for the return of everyone's favorite thing ever, new merch news. This week we only have one new product, well, two kind of, I guess. Yeah, two products. But it is this brand new Fault in Our Stars inspired iPhone case. And the reason I said it's kind of two products is because this case is available right now for pre-order in both iPhone 4 and iPhone 5 sizes and we expect it to ship out around the end of the year.

And while that does it for new merch, as you might expect, we are right in the middle of our busy season here at the DFTBA warehouse, thus all the boxes everywhere, but we are just shipping out so many things every day to you guys. And that's not going to change at all this week because in addition to the TFIOS hoodies and the CrashCourse DVD sets that continue to be sent out for those of you who pre-ordered them, we are also going to be shipping out the giant CrashCourse periodic table poster for those of you who pre-ordered that. Also this week we have started to receive some of the Pizzamas items, so things like the tattoos and the journals and the key chains and the lapel pins and the hoodies are all going to start going out this week. And actually, just now, while I was filming, the mail man just dropped off these beauties which are the HPA's Fairtrade chocolate frogs. So these will also start going out before the end of the week, so with all that new stuff on top of all the Black Friday orders, things are gonna be real busy around here this week.

And finally, this week I wanted to wrap things up with another instalment of NerdfArt Corner, which I've never actually given props to the creator of the name NerdfArt Corner. That title actually came from the YouTuber MoonShoesPatty, so, uh, thanks for that recommendation. And, uh, thanks to the rest of you for thumbs upping his comment a bunch of times. But this week's NerdfArt comes to us from rediscoveringthegreatperhaps.tumblr.com, and that is a DFTBA pizza cookie thing. And they've got the bunch of Hankler fish and the llamas and the DFTBA down there. And this is definitely the first NerdfArt that I've ever wanted to put in my mouth.

But that does it for this week guys. Don't forget to leave your questions, comments and what you want for Christmas down in the comments below. As always the links to everything I've talked about today, which was a bunch of stuff so it's going to be a long list, but those links will be down in the flap. And remember, you can always find me on my channel at YouTube.com/MatthewGaydos or on the twitters @MatthewGaydos. So I will see you next week with another episode of The Warehouse and as always.

Hank: Don't forget to be awesome.

Matthew: You gotta do the hand thing
